

Characteristics of Living Things

- Have the ability to reproduce

- Have the ability to grow and develop

- Have the ability to take nutrients and energy from the environment and convert them into a usable form

- Have the ability to interact with and respond to the environment

- Have the possession of a complex and highly organized structure

